I rather wonder that they did so much which deserves our gratitude and our imitation-that they had so far the start of the world encumbered as they were with its habits and examples of tyranny. Whatever any may deny to them, all will concede that, having suffered much in the defence of mankind, they did much, and with great precision of forecast, to establish those liberties on a foundation which coming ages might not shake. Nor will it be demed that whatever they accomplished in behalf of freedom was done by the strength of the principle that morals including the natural rights of man, are the basis of civil government, and that to allow the foundation to be undermined is to bring into ruin all that is reared upon it. STANZAS FOR THE ANNIVERSARY OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE. Written at Oahu, the capital of the Sandwich Island presented on the Fourth of July, 1822, and read in the assembly of Missionaries, Merchants, Captains, &c. convened there on that day,

COLUMBIA still prospers ! our spirits rejoice, "Is the Land of our fathers, the Land of our choice; Fair LABERTY there, in her beauty is seen, The fruit is all wholesome, her tree ever-green.

For conscience, our ancestors suff red of old, And when by its dictates they worship'd, were told, That unless they conform'd, as the priests should direct, The laws of old England should cease to protect.

In support of state-church then, both prisons and fines, For heresy's cure were prescribed by divines; Nor engines of torture were left unemploy'd, For who bow'd not to Baal, were maim'd or destroy'd.

A conduct so flagrant, fail'd not to create, In the people a horror of church and of state, By oppression's reaction, thus both were o'erturn'd, And dire were the ills which humanity mourned.

Then multitudes fled from the land of their birth, Though to them the most dear of all places on earth; AMERICA's bosom those Exiles received. She promised them Freedom, nor were they deceived. NEW-ENGLAND was planted; she gave her increase;

Though trials still met them, both many and great, Sweet Freedom out-balanced the rigors of fate! Tis long since America cast off that yoke, Wich Britain, by pressing too closely, had broke. In Science and Arts, now in Commerce and Trade.

"Pilgrim-Fathers" rejoiced in a region of peace;

To compete with the best, she is never atraid. Her Government, formed upon Liberty's plan, The rules of the Gospel, the interests of man. Has sprung from that germ "a plant of renown,"

And o'ershadows the earth, so majestic 'tis grown. Yet must it be told, that the sons of the brave, The tounders of freedom, persist to enslave The "swart sons of Afric?" Alas! it is so! And shall it continue ? It shall not, O, no!

Arise, O, Columbia! shake off the disgrace; In Liberty's Home, let not bondage have place! Tell the cruel, the heartless, the holders of slaves, Desecration they cast on their forefath rs' graves.

Be the sons of " America's Pilgrims" then true To themselves, nor occasion their country to rue: For the stigma of slavery branded upon her, Endangers her welfare, and sullies her honor.

Wise, upright and just, let her race ever be, Humane as courageous, benignant as free; Wherever they rest, or wherever they roam, Be they blessings abroad, and thrice blessed at home. GEORGE BENNET.

GOD IS LOVE.

Texas.

[Mr. Campbell of South Carolina here rose. I wish, with the permission of the gentleman from Massachusetts, (Mr. Adams bowed,) to ask him to explain the consistency of this argument in two particulars. It his object really is to prevent slavery, I ask whether he is not convinced that slavery will exist in Texas, whether she shall be annexed to this Union or not? And whether on this point, the only difference will not be in this: that if she comes into the Union she will get her slaves from the United States, and if she remains without she will get them from Africa? And whether. therefore, the effect of his opposing her admission is not the extension of the African slave-trade, with all those things which he has chosen to call the horrors of that trade ! I should like to have him reconcile these apparent inconsistencies .--

Mr. Adams. It is not difficult to answer the gentleman's questions. I believe, it Texas is not annexed to this Union, that the time is not remote when there will not be a slave either in these States or in Texas. believe that, if Texas is excluded, in the first place she will operate as a drain for the slaves from South Carolina; and that that State will be so drained of its slave population that the white inhabitants, including the gentleman and his friends, will be the first to urge the propriety of abolition [Here] many Southern gentlemen laughed.] so now in the West Indies. From Rev. Leonard Woods, D. D. Andover, Mass. An examination of your Second Class Book ha fully satisfied me that, in regard both to subjects and authors the selection is made with judgment and taste. The book is in my opinion, suited in an eminent degree, to aid the youth in our schools and academies in acquiring the art of reading, and at the same time to give them much pleasing and valuable information.
